Faculty Development Programme in Entrepreneurship Development

(Sponsored by Department of Science and Technology, New Delhi)

INTRODUCTION

Creating awareness of business opportunities, supporting potential entrepreneurs and assisting them in sustaining their enterprises is a major concern of agencies involved in accelerating economic development through entrepreneurship. Training these potential entrepreneurs is a crucial intervention in the whole process, a fact that, fortunately, is recognized by most of the agencies concerned with enterprise promotion. However, an analysis of the variety of training programmes for entrepreneurs all over the world revealed that the package of training interventions often lack certain important elements, thus reducing the impact of training on the potential entrepreneurs resulting in high dropout and or low rate of success of entrepreneur.
